

GALIMA SAPAR

ARTIST BIOGRAPHY

Galima Sapar is a progressive Kazakhstani conceptual fashion designer and educator known for her avant-garde vision, upcycling practices, and structural aesthetics.

Galima Sapar is a visionary contemporary fashion designer based in Kazakhstan. After refining her craft and receiving professional fashion education at IMB Milan, she returned to spearhead conceptual design movements in Central Asia. Recognized for her innovative approach to texture and form, Sapar became a finalist of the prestigious Next Designer Award (NDA) Empowered by Visa and is a prominent resident of Visa Fashion Week Almaty. Her signature design philosophy challenges traditional silhouettes through the lens of modern survivalism, sophisticated layering, and intricate textile manipulation. Driven by sustainability, she frequently incorporates advanced upcycling techniques into her work. Beyond designing collections, Galima is deeply committed to nurturing local talent, sharing her international expertise through her creative masterclasses and educational projects.
